WE NOMINATE

John Wilder Tukey, an imaginative and free-wheeling mathematician, whose studies in mathematical and theoretical statistics and their application to the social, physical and engineering sciences continue to attract international attention. This month the 50-year old Tukey, a Princetonian for almost three decades, is making front-page news across the country as chairman of a panel of President Johnson's Science Advisory Committee which in an exhaustive report on all kinds of man-made pollution on earth has come forward with 100-plus recommendations — including a new pollution tax designed to curb the poisoning of the nation's air, water and soil.

The 15-member Tukey Panel, lauded by the White House for "the thoroughness" with which it has investigated pollution, devoted 15 months to the project, covered the whole spectrum of environmental pollution and adopted a sweeping definition of pollution: "The unfavorable alteration of our surroundings, wholly or largely as a by-product of man's action." For instance, the proposed tax, as one observer noted, might well "apply to factories belching smoke, sewerage systems corrupting streams, automobiles emitting potential smog, careless users of pesticides, or even the obnoxious individual contributing to noise by playing a transistor radio on the bus."

The report, 76 pages plus 11 appendices contributed by 11 sub-panels of experts, is intriguing, and in spots grim, reading for residents of urban areas. "Today we are certain," Tukey and his associates state, "that pollution adversely affects the quality of our lives" and "in the future it may elict their duration." One of its primary thrusts is in the area of air pollution where the importance of the automobile as a mushrooming source of pollution problems must be recognized, for the exhausts of vehicles is the "single most effective way to expose almost all our people to air pollution."

The son of a distinguished teacher of Classics and English, and originally trained in chemistry and pure mathematics, the Massachusetts-born Tukey over the years has combined teaching and research in Princeton University with an amazing assortment of assignments for government agencies and professional societies and has been closely associated with the research programs of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. In four of the past five years he has been singled out for at least one signal honor: 1961, membership in the National Academy of Sciences; 1962, the American Philosophical Society; 1964, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; 1965, the Samuel S. Wilks Memorial Award of the American Statistical Association.

The Wilks Award, given to Tukey last month and recognizing in part "successful activity in the fostering of coordinated scientific efforts," underscored Tukey's standing and achievements in broad reaches of statistics. A recent president of the Institute for Mathematical Statistics, and originator of a project to index the mounting flood of technical journals (which have been doubling every 15 years since the 17th century), he directs Princeton's Statistical Techniques Research Group and heads a program in mathematical statistics which a year hence will become a new academic department within the University.

For "quarterbacking" a penetrating analysis of an interlinked tangle of problems of concern to every citizen; for urging the Federal Government to move beyond the hodge-podge of organizations now attempting to manage pollution; for bringing new skills and insights into areas where complacency has prevailed; he is our nominee as

This Is PRINCETON

THE AMATEUR SPIRIT
It Can Make Noise. When the office lights are turned off, the lab door pulled shut and the dishwasher programmed to do its job, the amateur spirit comes to light and life in many a Princeton heart.

Two organizations, one new and one old, provide for the amateur musician who loves to make music solely for the joy of his soul. The new one is the Princeton Community Orchestra, founded in January, and the old one is the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs, now in its 20th year. The orchestra, of course, is for instrumentalists; the Amateurs is for people who like to sing, although instrumentalists are invited, too.

The Community Orchestra was started because a lot of people had the same idea at the same time. Princeton needed a little orchestra where ordinary people could play for relaxation and their own pleasure.

Peter Cook, clarinet; Mr. Thomas G. Cook, violin; Robert Lehmann, trumpet; Joan Milla, viola; Jennifer Lehmann, bassoon, all said, "Let's send out post cards and see who answers." So many did answer that Mr. Cook offered the use of her home as a rehearsal hall. Joseph Kovacs, the violinist, teacher and conductor, offered his professional services with baton, and the orchestra began to play.

Let's Go On Playing. Today, about 10 months later, the orchestra has about 35-40 members and is, according to Mrs. Lehmann, "reasonably well-balanced." Musicians gather twice a month on the first and third Thursday evenings at Princeton High School. They begin to rehearse by 7:30 and end at 8 and although the playing session is supposed to last two hours, it often goes beyond that.

"They are exceptional people, exceptional music," Mr. Kovacs says. "They come very faithfully to each rehearsal and the sessions are very enjoyable for us all."

Twice a month may sound infrequent for dedicated amateurs.

tears, but this is a town where at the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto with the group last spring.

"Perhaps we could even invite advanced young students to play with us," he says with enthusiasm. "I would so have appreciated a chance like that when I was young."

Musicians who would like to join should call Mr. Kovacs at 921-6732 or Mrs. Lehmann at 921-6184. Dues are $25 a year, $15 for students, $15 for second member of the family. The next rehearsal will be Thursday, December 2 at 8 in the high school band room at 8 p.m.

Enter the Singers. In that musical limbo reserved for people who long to make music but can't play an instrument, are the singular members of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs. Anyone can join, anyone. And about 100 people have. Last Sunday at the customary hour of 8, about 125 singers and orchestra members jammed into the Woolworth Center for Musical Studies to do a pair of Bach Cantatas (Nos. 105 and 102) which the group had never sung before.

If some members of the amateur orchestra looked familiar, they were: those familiar Princeton postcards were sent in large numbers to people from the Amateurs' orchestra. "How do you weed out the dead wood? Is a question sometimes asked about the Amateurs. The answer is: the dead wood weeds itself out. If you can't read music and if you don't care enough to wrestle through an unfamiliar Bach work, you quietly drop away."

No More Dinner. "We used to have a big dinner during the intermission," recalls Mrs. Michael Rasmus, "and Amateur gatherings were almost social affairs where people came to eat and chat. But we eliminated the dinners some years ago. We have our books in the red anyhow — and now we just have a brief — continued on Page 2.

The Thorne Pharmacy

November, 1965

Dear Patrons
Even though you ran the risk of inhaling sawdust or of being hit on the head by a 2 x 6, you still came to see us. During the months of September and October our overall volume slipped — but not much — but more important to us, in the areas where you come to us for service and advice, there were greater demands made of us and more service rendered by us than in the corresponding months of 1964 (which were bigger than in 1963). This means something to us. We think it means The Thorne Pharmacy means something to you.

Thank You,

break for coffee and cookies.
You'd be surprised how the musical standards changed.
People come now to sing, not just to eat.

Sunday's session was conducted by Mrs. Barbara C. Lewis, a vivacious young musician who used to be an assistant director of the Radcliffe Choral Society. "She strives for detail," Mrs. Lewis says with a smile, and the singer who thinks he's doing well to get most of the notes at sight, finds that Mrs. Lewis would like more clarity of diction and more manner.

Dean J. Merrill Knapp of the University is dean of the Amateurs' conductors, and he tends to sweep right through — perhaps hurried over the years by amateur inattention. A third conductor is Walter Zoller, conductor of the University Glee Club. The heart and core of the Amateurs for 26 years was Mrs. MacKenzie Bryman who resigned as administrator and guide in 1963. She was succeeded by Mrs. Ramona and Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb.

Each for Christmas. For Christmas this year, the Musical Amateurs will sing Bach's Christmas Oratorio on Sunday, December 12, at 8 in the University Chapel on Cherry Hill Road. The Woodworth Center has a big evening of the same turn-outs at Christmas time.

For the rest of the year, there will be the Haydn Terzetto on January 6, no announced program to be conducted by Mr. Nollman on February 20. Mrs. Knapp, accompanied, on March 12, the Wesley Te Deum on April 24, and to wind things up on May 13, the Bach B Minor Mass.

Like the Community Orchestra, the Amateurs draws its membership from across the whole of Princeton. Junior high girls, distinguished lawyers, a minister's wife, commanding executives, grandmothers who have been coming for 25 years, and the inimitable housewives. Soloists, vocal and instrumental, are also professional and semi-professional and many of them also have been singing with such line group for years.

Instrumentalists and singers alike, perform with that peculiar solemn joy that characterizes the amateur doing things that he loves best.

THAT BLONDE CORNER

Takes office Friday. The cute, 21-year-old blonde from Mt. Holioke and Snowden Lane will be sworn in as Mercer County coroner this Friday at 1 p.m. at the home of William Faley, county clerk.

Ordinarily, Mr. Faley doesn't invite coroners to be sworn in on his living-room rug, even cute, 21-year-old blondes, but the court house is closed for Thanksgiving vacation.

The new coroner is Janet Bond, 436 Snowden Lane, a 1962 High Honors graduate of Princeton High School and now a Mt. Holioke senior majoring in political science.

She will prepare for the swearing-in by serving on a "Glamour Panel" for Explorer Post 88 of the Boy Scouts this Wednesday at 7:30 at the Methodist Church. (Barbara Sue Meuser of Hood College and Linda Calote of Wells will join her.)

Miss Bond won her new post with a landslide of 54 written votes. Her campaign was the clean-cut, fast-moving type, consisting of 30 letters mailed to Princeton friends. The letters didn't arrive until the day before election, but that didn't seem to matter. Where she picked up the other six votes, only Janet knows. Explorer Scouts, probably. The office of coroner does not exist except on the ballot. Miss Bond has no duties and will receive no salary.

She became excited about practical politics this summer when she worked for Pennsylvania's Republican Senator Hugh Scott as an intern. As part of her job she did some campaign work in Philadelphia for friends of the Senator's, and they won. Then she went back to Mt. Holioke, and as part of her politics course, worked for campaigning politicians in South Hadley and nearby towns and all of them won too. She's been talking about doing graduate work in politics, but with a record like hers, she could teach the course.

PRINCETON ON TV
Town Subject of Program. The Princeton Community will star in a half-hour television program to be given this Sunday at 4:30 on Channel 6, WFIL. A radio salute to Princeton on WFIL will follow at 7:30.

Shots of Palmer Square, the Princeton Shopping Center, the University campus, schools, houses and churches have been incorporated into the program.

Princeton residents appearing on the "Salute to Princeton" will be Henry S. Patterson, mayor of the Borough; Carl C. Sehofer, mayor of the Township; Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study; Dean Douglas Bryman of Princeton University; Dr. James McCord, president of Princeton Theological Seminary; Dr. Elmer Engstrom, president of RCA and Arthur Carlisle, president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

The film used on the television show will be given to the Princeton Chamber of Commerce (for showing in the community).

TOPICS Of The Town

WHICH SITE?
For Township High, "Something definite can be done in 90 days if we want to move that fast," said Township School Board member Leonard Hymerling Thursday night in regard to choosing a site for the proposed Township High School.

Mr. Hymerling told the Board and a mere drudging of Township residents who attended the meeting, that the New Sites Committee had met with Township Planning Board, Township Committee and Open Space Committee and could probably report in definitive fashion about December 1. He outlined the Site Committee's deliberations in more detail to the Board in executive session.

"We hope the Board will choose a high school site close to town, not isolated like a prep school," said David Hapwood, 22 Cedar Lane, speaking for PAHR.

"A central location is foremost in our minds," replied Mr. Hymerling. "We want a school definitely within the center of student population."

Which School? Negro parents are being asked by Board members and by Eugene Hinger, principal of Community Park School, for their thoughts on pupil allocation. The question of where Negro boys and girls in the Township should be sent to school was raised frequently during merger discussions.

The Board has a Pupil Allocation Committee consisting of Mrs. George Freeman, David Brooks and Laurence Holm. "We can't act on pupil allocation until next fall anyway," Mrs. Freeman observed. "We'd like to commend the Board for the way it's slowly ing the pupil allocation question," Mr. Hapwood said, again speaking for PAHR. "Consulting Negro parents who are actually involved is much more important than asking a single spokesman. We'd like to see other municipal bodies emulate you in this policy."

Mr. Hapwood added that PAHR endorsed Mrs. Irving Newlin and Laurence Houston as possible members of the High School Citizens Committee. The composition of this committee has not yet been announced. He also asked the Board to consider the extension of remedial reading programs into the summer.

"These are all positive suggestions and they strengthen the tentative ideas we have had ourselves," commented Superintendent John J. McKenna. Board member Mrs. Jess Ziestein also thanked PAHR and Mr. Hapwood. "Lots of communication opened up as a result of the merger campaign," he said, "and we want to keep them open."

The dispute with Kehoe-Downs, contracting firm at large, scheduled to go before a board of arbitration in Philadelphia on Monday. Gordon Griffin, attorney for the Board; Norman Anderson, Board secretary; Dr. McKenna and a representative of the Falmouth Brothers construction firm attended the hearing.

Dr. McKenna said the Board that the grand total of Township students is now on the books of 3,000-2,000 boys and girls, up 22 from last month. This includes 60 pupils in the tentative grade at Johnson Park a figure which is a disturbing one to Dr. McKenna since it is above the 23-percent cap class regarded as optimum by the Township. "We don't like to see that many youngsters in a primary grade class," Dr. McKenna said.

He also told the Board that the Parent-Teacher Organization at Johnson Park has established a memorial fund for Mr. Musyan Longmire, Boone, teacher at the school who was killed in an accident. The tentative plan is to establish an indoor memorial garden in the vestibule.

WE STILL Need Blood

By the end of "Blood Donor Week" on Sunday, 675 new names had been added to the Red Cross Princeton Hospital Blood Donor list. Enrollment of volunteers for blood donation will continue at 71 University Place, headquarters of the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross. Princeton Hospital needs 2,000 new donors — or about 1,300 more — in order to continue its unique program of free blood for all who need it.

Among the 600-plus volunteers who signed up were 190 undergraduates and graduate students, recruited from Princeton University by the Orange Key Society on campus.

For a comment on Princeton's response to the need for blood donors, see "Mailbox," page 15.

tion at Johnson Park has established a memorial fund for Mr. Musyan Longmire, Boone, teacher at the school who was killed in an accident. The tentative plan is to establish an indoor memorial garden in the vestibule.

$50,000 NEEDED
FOR UP-RED CROSS GOAL. Gifts and pledges so far for the Princeton United Fund: Red Cross campaign amount to $338,830, or 80% of the $423,420 goal, according to a campaign chairman Alan Frank.

Companies that have reached the minimum of 70% employee participation, or exceeded the nine percent increase over last year, are: American Chemical, Aerochemical Research Association, American Can, American Cyanamid, Astro-TEC, Beum & Benson, Columbian Carbon Educational Testing Service, EMC Corp., Industrial Recorders, Laboratories, Mettler Instruments, and others.

Princeton University has raised more than $35,000 towards its $42,000 quota and expects late returns to push it over the top, Mr. Frank said.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME
On Ridge View Road, A general alarm which sounded at 2 Sunday afternoon, did considerable damage to the home of A. C. Braun, Ridge View Road. Fire Chief Patrick McManimon reports that no one was injured.

The blaze burned out one bedroom and then crept upwards toward the attic and under the roof where it caused lesser damage. The first floor, firemen said, received considerable water damage. There was no structural damage from smoke and heat.

Fire volunteers remained at the scene for about an hour and a half. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

PEDESTRIAN DIES
From Auto Injuries, Richard F. Schulz, 37, 80 Elm Road, who was struck by a car a few minutes before midnight, on Saturday, November 12, as he was walking in East Road, died at 7:30 p.m. last Wednesday in Princeton Hospital. Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan said Mr. Schulz never regained consciousness.

Chief McCrohan said that a Grand Jury will decide whether to indict the driver, Roland H. Haugert, 45, 113 Westcott Road. Mr. Schulz was hit as he was taking his customary night stroll. Police report that there was a slight fog at the time on Elm Road. The victim was rushed to Princeton Hospital for treatment of a fractured skull and deep head lacerations.

'61 Accident Recalled. The fatal accident occurred exactly one year to the day from the Borough's last traffic fatality. On November 13, 1964, Mrs. Burton W. Kendall, 82, of East Orange, was killed at the intersection of Elm and Stockton Street, only a few hundred feet from where Mr. Schulz was struck.

Mrs. Kendall was a passenger in a car driven by her husband. The car was rammed by a tractor-trailer driving south on Stockton. Mrs. Kendall died moments later in Princeton Hospital of head wounds.

In recalling a third fatality about six years ago on Elm near Mountain Avenue, Chief McCrohan said he considered Elm Road one of the most dangerous streets in Princeton (or, pedestrians).

"I've been trying for years to get them to put in sidewalks on Elm, at least on one side," he said. "Now, while they're widening Elm is the time to do it if anything is ever going to be done."

Just for you.

Indian Summer has come and gone, but these last few days of November bring a promise of being pleasantly mild.

Thanksgiving Day, for example, should see the temperature push close to 60 under sunny skies. Chance of a shower or two by Saturday, but nothing like Monday's steady rain, which produced better than half an inch.

A native of New York City, Mr. Schulz moved to Princeton five years ago. Before coming here, he was a copywriter for a New York advertising agency.

A graduate of Horace Mann School, New York City, Mr. Schulz received a bachelor of arts degree from Princeton in 1948, a bachelor of music degree from Yale in 1951 and a master of fine arts degree from Princeton in 1952. He was a member of the Nassau Club.

Also surviving are his wife, Constance G. Schulz, three daughters, Ceila Hope, Emily Karen and Edith Carolyn.

The service and interment were private, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial gifts may be sent to All Saints' Chapel.

News Of The THEATRES

LOOK BACKWARD, ANGEL Between Seasons. The McCarter box-office rang up the best season since repertory started in 1964: subscriptions for the fall drama series topped 1,500 for the first time and community response has been stronger than ever before. Not strong enough to please McCarter wholly, but still much better.

This fall, McCarter had a cool, even, repertory company with an over-all level of competence not always present in other seasons. If this company is the one scheduled to give us "Maze June," Shaw's "Candida" (we'll bet Ruby Hollbrook is ready for that one right now) and "Lady Windermere's Fan," then we can look forward to some entertainment in the spring.

But McCarter will always have lots of people eager to sell the place how to run the show, and this department is no exception. After this fall season, the grumble is about programming, if our computer specialists will tell us the word.

It is the University's design that McCarter shall be a unique, a "living library" where students can see a history of the theatre unfolded in four-year undergraduate cycles. And support from the town is certainly welcomed from the financial point of view, but McCarter's purpose is to instruct the young, not to entertain the middle-aged. This policy places the adult subscriber almost in the role of "angel" and financial support is necessary as a supplement to the slim McCarter budget, but he doesn't have much say about things once he puts his money down.

This fall, we had an undergraduate course of study, all right: stern, severe lectures all the way. Now nobody is asking for "Helle, Dolly" but surely more vital theatre is within the McCarter scope. The undergraduates for whom McCarter is intended, deserve it.

Why doesn't McCarter produce plays that speak harshly and relevantly to young minds? Perhaps "Mother Courage" has a message for the boy with Viet Nam in his future; perhaps, from "Major Barbara" a thoughtful undergraduate may have deduced that Shaw is a pretty exciting playwright. But the middle-aged sewer problems of "Enemy of the People" and the academic exercise of "Coriolanus" -

Where's the "Time?" Theatre can be one of life's great excitement. Today's Princeton undergraduate probably thinks all that excitement happened in the past. We had Brecht this fall. Pirandello last spring, a 15-year-old Arthur Miller a year ago. The vital earth-movers in today's theatre have been in McCarter repertory. Samuel Beckett has never been given. Neither has Ionesco. Not a single "angry young man." Can an undergraduate leave after four years, thinking he has experienced the full range of theatre?

IT'S NEW To Us

CUSTOM, FOR YOU
In New Dress Shop, if you've always wanted A Little Dress-maker who will design and make clothes to fit your taste and figure, your time has arrived.

The new shop at Two Chambers Street called "Elle: The Princeton Boutique" is the home of just such an expert. She is Nora Ellidge, a shy, chic young lady from Columbia (Barraquella, to be exact) who has studied dresscraft in Paris and New York and has had her own shop in Columbia.

At "Elle," she has on display and for sale, more than a dozen examples of her line for design and her skillful finger with a needle. She specializes—although she will design and make anything you wish—in brilliantly understated cocktail and at-home dresses.

Her particular flair is her imaginative way of handling seams and darts so that they become almost focal points on her deceptively simple dresses. Look at the sun-yellow silk shantung skirt, for example. Its four curving seams, two on each side, lead subtly to the point of the modest V-neck and the sunburst petals of a fabric medallion.

On a raw silk, made from an unusual shade of dark slate blue, Nora has a track of double stitching from each under arm to waistline, making a deep, riblike "U." A dark brown raw silk has a keynote neckline for emphasis.

A tropical silk print, in turquoise and violet has another long skirt, this one, banded with a wide royal belt and oblong rhinestone buckle. The short, deep purple satin silk may even swing you away from the long ones.

Moving out from the restrictions of the skirt, Nora has designed a charmingly youthful short dress with brown velvet top, dark as Colombian coffee, sleeveless with a U-neckline and a froth of café au lait chiffon for a skirt. The high waistline is marked by an oval amber buckle.

Velvet and the high waist again in a cranberry dress with long sleeves and a dusty pink velvet ribbon to mark the waist. Here, as elsewhere, Nora uses a small, hand-made organza rose as a waistline marker.

Lene evening skirts in brilliant silks are in "Elle's" window for your notice. One is a dazling of kelly green with a rosebud-pink satin sash. Nora shows with it a cool-neck white crepe blouse.

Royal blue silk shantung for

On the ready-to-wear racks, Elle is showing the Whippett line for young figures. We saw a teenage model (live and frisky) wearing a saucy red wool jersey narrowly banded with black at low waist, scoop neck, armholes and pocket loops. The same combination in a skirt with shaped belt.

Black-white handstooth has been widely treated to bands of yellow knit around square neckline and long sleeves—this, in a dress. The same, except for a higher neckline, in a two-piece suit with overblouse and single-pleated skirt.

Prices for the dresses designed and made by Nora, range, roughly, from $25 to $55.

The shop also has a few hand-woven wool runas and a collection of small art objects from Columbia.

champion of the Middle Ages, ruler, fighter and lover again. He takes on all manner of foe as well as lovely Rosemary Forsyth in an area bounded by swamps and castles, and amid flying arrows, spears, flaming missiles, swords and knives. He also has trouble with an enraged bridegroom and a jealous brother. A viewer cannot help but admire Heston's stamina and courage.

There are fine performances by the cast, which includes Guy Stockwell, Richard Boone and Henry Wilton.

GARDEN

Sands of the Kalahari (now playing) The plot concerns five passengers and the pilot of a private plane which hits a cloud of locusts over the Kalahari Desert and crashes. It makes the rather obvious point that some men are better able to revert to savagery than others when the circumstances demand it.

Stuart Whitman, as the man who turns into an animal in his single-minded effort to stay alive, provides a gripping characterization, which is also somewhat mystifying as nothing is told of what he was before the crash. Susanah York is the only woman in the party. Others in the cast are Nigel Davenport as the pilot, Harry Andrews as an elderly German, Theodore Biker as a Lebanese forced by William to go off into the desert alone, and Stanley Baker, as the man who fails at everything.

The desert wasteland is beautifully photographed, and the grim plot holds interest throughout, providing it is regarded simply as an adventure story.

PRINCE

King Rat (now playing) The metaphor of King Rat digs into the darknesses of human existence. George Segal plays the part of an American corporal interned in the infamous Changi prison at Singapore in 1945. His predatory, voracious methods of survival earn him the name of "King Rat."

His foil is James Fox as the RAF officer with an unshakable belief in the good in man. He emerges as a symbol of the Christian spirit put to the ultimate tests. When his crushed arm develops gangrene, Segal offers to get blackmarket drugs not available to the camp doctor if Fox, who speaks Malaysian, will serve as go-between in tradings with the camp guards.

Playing cat-and-mouse with Segal is Tom Courtenay, as an embittered British officer assigned to serve as camp provost. When he finally gets the goods on Segal, his senior officer orders him to remain silent.

And caught between the extreme philosophies of Segal and Fox are the other prisoners of war, each tortured by the effort of trying to maintain human decency in an environment where death lies only hours away.

NEW STRAND

Darling (now playing) Audrey Christie and Dirk Bogarde star in this English film, one of the best to be issued this year. The story of a model on the make, "Darling" is a milestone.

Julie Christie, in the lead role, at first takes life as it comes and then is determined to get as much out of it as she can. She ditched her husband for TV writer Dick Bogarde, then turns to a rich businessman, played by Laurence Harvey. She dallies for a while with a photographer, and later captures an Italian prince. She becomes an international celebrity then gets bored.

Her experiences are for adults only, as some are quite frank as to action, dialogue and situation. The performances are good, and the backgrounds are quite lavish.

High Fidelity: (Sun, thru Tues.) Italian film-maker are going in for omnibus package. Adultery, frigidity, prostitution and homosexuality are the themes the four script writers have treated. The quality of the stories is uneven.

In "The Scandal," Nino Manfredi plays a man vacationing at a beach resort with his wife, Fulvia Franco, who is annoyed when a handsome youth seems to be paying too much attention. It turns out that the fellow is more interested in Manfredi. In "Sin in the Afternoon," Charles Ana-

Pool Dive In!

Pool for Christmas doesn't necessarily mean a hole in the back yard. The hole we mean is the one in the middle of the Viking Furniture's Elliptical Pool Table.

This fun-for-the-family device is a round white pool table, about five feet in diameter, with five feet high in the middle, cues, balls and goodness knows what else you need to play elliptical pool. Oh, yes: a green baize cover.

It's $125 dollars and will keep the children off the streets and daddy away from the pool-hall.

It's New To Us

Continued from Page 7 corner desk to fit between the chairs, and a hutch bookcase which fits on top of the chairs. The hutch has mysterious little drawers, ready to be stacked with secrets. A fine pink rose design warms up the white.

Mother, meanwhile, has asked for the wrought-iron breakfast sets with walnut or white mica tops. A slab of matte white is supported by rods of black in one table. A walnut mica circle has pale green wrought iron supports in another.

We like the high-back chairs with white vinyl back cushions and black-white gingham seats. But maybe you like those round light green chairs with their cage backs, like an up-to-date captain.

You may also order, in plenty of time for Christmas.

With the Harvard University Library intern program, Mr. Lenenan was graduated from the Lycée Français and the Centre d'Etudes Mathématiques of Beirut, and the Ecole Nationale Supérieure de l'Aéronautique in Paris. He received his doctorate in aeronautical engineering from the University of Michigan in 1964 and is now with the Lincoln Laboratory of Technology, Lexington, Mass.

Send a Christmas Card to Viet Nam

The six young men listed below are serving in Viet Nam. Their friends and relatives in Princeton hope that you will send them a Christmas card, even if their names are strange to you, just to say "Merry Christmas" and to wish them well.

The deadline for airmail overseas is December 10. Additional names and addresses should be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis, 210 Moore Street, Princeton. (No phone calls, please). TOWN TOPICS will publish them in next week's issue.

be taken to 120 FitzRandolph Road between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. daily, starting Monday. Contributors who would like to have their donations picked up, may call 924-3761 to make arrangements.

On Saturday and Sunday, December 4 and 5, volunteers will canvass from door to door seeking contributions.

Food and clothing will be sent to the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party and the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union. Members of the Union are sharecroppers who struck against their 35-a-day wages and are now unemployed.

In last year's drive, the Princeton Freedom Center collected more than eight tons of food and clothing.

BRONZE TIGER STOLEN

From Tower Club. A bronze tiger, three to four feet long and weighing 55 pounds, was stolen early Sunday morning from the Tower Club, 13 Prospect Avenue. Police said the tiger, used as a centerpiece, was reported to be worth about $500.

About a dozen overcoats were also reported taken from the club during the weekend.

Last Wednesday, Mrs. Anna Boyer, 225 Ewing Street, called police to report that her apartment had been entered and ransacked that day. When she returned from work at 1:45, she told police that she covered her door lock had been loosened and her door was ajar. Inside, she found a light burning in the bedroom.

Police said the intruder took $60 from a dresser drawer. Pieces of jewelry and other valuables were left behind, they said.

KINGSTON BRIDGE HIT

Car Lands in River. Princeton Township was the scene of three car accidents last week, all occurring in the early morning hours. Two of them involved the accident-prone Mercer Road bridges.

The most spectacular took place Thursday morning at 4:06.

your is a businessman who picks up Claire Bloom and takes her to a motel. The timid is that she is actually his wife.

The third episode, "The Victim," Monica Vitti plays an immature wife who suspects her husband of infidelity. She gets even by seducing his best friend. This is a particularly brilliant bit, which Miss Vitti tends to overact. Up to Tognazzi and Bernard Blier, and fear in the longest take, "Modern People," acting with droll skill a basically serious story.

A businessman agrees to cancel a gambling debt in exchange for an evening with the doctor's wife.

when John Florio, 41, of Trenton, skinned over the top of the Kingston bridge and landed in the Millstone River. He was taken by the First Aid Unit to Princeton Hospital for treatment of multiple contusions and a fracture of the left arm.

According to the police report, after striking the north wall of the bridge, Mr. Florio's car skinned over its top and hurled 25 to 30 feet in the air, topping several trees. It then turned and its front rammed into a mudbank of the Millstone River, causing it to rest in the water.

A "Route 27" traffic sign carried off the highway when the car rested in front of it. Hill Patrolman issued a charge of reckless driving.

On Saturday at 1 a.m., David E. Tharp, 17, of Trenton was uninjured when he hit the Mercer Road bridge but his sports car had to be towed away.

Tharp told police he lost control of his car when he swerved to avoid another which he said was approaching from the opposite direction in his lane.

At 2:05 a.m. on Sunday, Dorothy E. Bunting, 20, of Trenton City, received scrapes and bruises when her brakes failed and she rammed into the rear section of another car.

Police said that the Bunting car struck one operated by Peter B. Polatin, 23, of Washington, N. Y., stopped on Washington Road, waiting for a red light at the Family intersection. After exchanging information with Mr. Polatin, Miss Bunting left without notifying the police. She was charged with leaving the scene by P.I. Michael Kopliner Jr.

GEM CUTTING ON VIEW
At LaVake Jewelers, 54 Nassau Street, will present an exhibition of the art of lapidary on Sunday.

A lapidist cuts precious stones such as rubies, emeralds and sapphires into the precise forms and facets of fine jewelry. He is assisted by a hand wheel, a revolving disk covered with a hard abrasive such as diamond dust.

As the wheel turns, the lapidist touches the precious stone to the abrasive, producing angles of exact precision at one speed. Experts say that it takes about 20 years to master this art fully.

At LaVake's, onlookers will see Frank Gruber of New York City cutting precious stones for new pieces of fine jewelry and for remounting heirloom pieces. Mr. Gruber is one of the few master lapidaries in the world. He has 30 years experience in his craft.

Also on view will be a collection of rare jewelry and precious stones of unusual color and quality. According to LaVake these stones are the first of their type ever to be seen in Princeton.

BUILT TO SPEAK
At Council Luncheon, 430 N. C. Hall, directed by the Office of Economic Opportunity of the New Jersey, will speak at a Council of Community Services Luncheon to be held Tuesday at noon at the M-W-C-A. At the meeting, Council members will act on a proposal for re-organization of the Council. As proposed, the re-organization would enlarge the Council's executive board to include representatives of all parts of the United Fund area and would also provide for the hiring of an executive director.

If the proposed new by-laws are accepted, a special election will be held at Tuesday's meeting. Mrs. Richard Schoch, chairman of the nominating officers and new members of the executive board. A person-

Hello, Lady Bird!

Princeton never really had a chance to say "hello," because Mrs. Johnson B. Johnson flew in and out of town Friday on a last schedule.

She visited the University as the guest of President Robert F. Goheen and Mrs. Goheen, arriving in from Philadelphia. She arrived in mid-morning and left before noon. During her visit, she toured the new Woodrow Wilson School and met several members of the University faculty and staff, including Marver H. Bernstein, Dean of the Woodrow Wilson School, and Professor William G. Bowen, director of the school's graduate program.

President Johnson had been tentatively scheduled to participate in dedication ceremonies for the school, but shortly before his operation this fall, it was announced that he would not participate.

The committee will read a state of incl. committee, directed by Robert Popino, looking for a qualified executive director.

The Council of Community Services embraces 54 organizations and more than 60 individuals, including the United Fund agencies, seven Parent-Teacher Associations, various men's service clubs and other civic groups. Among the Council's achievements are the organization of the Youth Employment Service and the Friends of the Public Library. It was instrumental in establishing the Joint Recreation Commission and, with Kivian, set up the Homemakers Service.

All interested persons are invited to the luncheon meeting. Reservations must be made by Friday noon at the M-W-C-A, 924-0771. Tickets $1.50.

SHOPS

Pull into the attended parking lot immediately to the rear of Palmer Square. The parking card you receive can be stamped by most of the shops you visit in Palmer Square. Your first hour or two will cost you nothing. Ask the Palmer Square shop that displays the Park and Shop emblem to stamp your parking card. Merely present this card when you leave the parking yard. Park longer, if you like, at 25¢ per hour. Avoid parking fines this simple way. It pays to shop in Palmer Square — and lunch at the Coach Room of the Nassau Inn, or enjoy the latest movies at the Playhouse Theater — all in Palmer Square in the heart of Princeton.

RIDING CLASSES SET

For YMCA. The winter term of horseback riding classes for both adults and children at the YMCA is now open for registration. The classes will begin the week of Monday, November 29. They will be held in the stables at the Hasty Acres Stable in Kingston and will last eight weeks.

Conducting classes for beginners through jumpers will be Mrs. Jane Clark, assisted by David Johnson. Children's classes will meet after school and Saturday morning, and adult classes will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Riders who miss classes during Christmas vacation may make-up sessions by special arrangement with Mrs. Clark. More information may be obtained from the YMCA.

YV PLANS COFFEE HOUR
To Herald Christmas Season. The Board of Directors and staff of the Princeton YWCA will hold a coffee hour from 10 to 12 noon Wednesday to herald the Christmas season for all members and friends of the Y.

Mrs. Charles Lambert is in charge of arrangements. Those desiring to attend who will need the services of a free nursery provided should call the Y at 924-4825.

WINTER MEETING SET
By Women's College Clubs. A mid-winter meeting has been planned by the presidents of the seven Women's Colleges of the Princeton area to explore opportunities for trained volunteers and professional.

Night and Day

It's all the same to Township school children. During October, 29 boys and girls went to Community Park School after supper so they could use the library.

Sixth-grade boys and girls could use the evening astronomy study nights this fall in the Johnson Park School nature area, and some sixth-graders camped out, October 28-29, in Johnson Park so they could experience at first hand some of the problems faced by early settlers.

What? No Indians?

Out of Balance.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would not help but compare the number of persons who came to the anti-polio vaccine when it was offered with the number of persons who came to the same amount of time to give their names as possible blood donors last Sunday.

MRS. JEAN BOUR
223-D King Street

Be Selfish, If Nothing Else.

To the Editor of Town Topics: From a patient of Princeton for ten years, am a physician whose major practice is in town, although I do not see private patients I am not on the staff of the hospital because my work does not involve hospital care. I mention this to show I have no axe to grind. I have donated ten pints of blood to the Red Cross Program.

A few minutes ago, I read of the shameful lack of response to the blood donor drive. It was poor, here, although I don't know what the response was in the surrounding communities whose citizens use Princeton Hospital also.

Self-interest and concern with individual wishes and desires, and the gratification of them, is the primary motivation in each one of us, and the rest of the people and their problems come second, often a long way behind. This is neither to be regretted nor is it aided against. It is simply the way humans operate.

However, here we are dealing with the self-interest of every person in this community. Unlike the conditions many community services attempt to handle, the problems of illness and accidents stand the same chance of affecting any one of us.

The rationalizations which are used to avoid contributing to the United Fund by many who can well afford to give cannot be employed here. And it is interesting that just as the risk and the need is the same in each of us, we each can give only the exact same amount, no more from the wealthy or important or altruistic than from any other community program I know of.

Those who have taken no interest in this program may be fortunate and never need blood transfusions. If they do need it some time in the present program is not in operation, they will regret the situation too late, or will be humanly complain about the cost of blood, the inability to obtain donors, or the injury they run things at Princeton Hospital. If this community does not want to have a free blood service, all the altruism in the world won't supply it. And we can't get it from the federal or state government, either.

So, if you must, forget helping your community or "doing good for others," and support the blood donor drive for the same reason you get a new car or TV, good old selfishness.

Suggests One "Town Hall"

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Although the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations (the Dilley Committee) found that municipal consolidation would be impractical, they pointed out at the same time a really fine Town Hall in that cooperation in several areas of the two unrelated parishes of government had proved of benefit to both the Borough and the Township. They recommended extending joint functioning into the fields of Health, Planning, Public Housing, and Building Codes.

Now that both Borough and Township are considering plans for new municipal buildings, is it not time to heed the Joint Committee's recommendations? Would not the many common problems of the Princeton community be best solved under one roof? Should intergovernmental cooperation be confined to telephone calls and the exchange of "sitting firmers"?

If now the two municipalities agree to pool their money and plans, could they not build a single complex which would increase the flow of communication. Conferences between administrators, engineers, attorneys, and police officers would be expedited. Expensive new equipment that might be required in connection with any governmental function — perhaps electronic data-processing equipment — could be shared.

One Town Hall serving Borough and Township should accomplish the following:

- (1) Provide better facilities at lower tax cost;
- (2) Improve intergovernmental and intercommunity relations;
- (3) Achieve functional integration in the areas recommended by the Joint Committee;
- (4) Provide a public building.

Being under one roof or in

Draft the Professionals.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am in the United States Navy and am presently deployed in the Mediterranean Sea for a seven-month period. We there don't have enough courage to give up two years of their life to protect the heritage of freedom which was won by our ancestors, who died giving it, they should not be part of our country.

My opinion of these so called citizens is one of disgust. That our country is occupied by people who won't fight for their freedoms and rights is one of deep concern to me. If they don't have enough courage to give up two years of their life to protect the heritage of freedom which was won by our ancestors, who died giving it, they should not be part of our country.

The squad in which I am now serving has been away from their families for 11 out of the last 16 months. The only thing that keeps depression from setting among us is the fact that there is a purpose for this: that being sure freedom continues in our great country and protection for our loved ones.

The President has extended air enlistments for a month in order that the manpower will be sufficient to fulfill our commitments until the drafttees can be trained to help bear the responsibility. At present the draft enlistment is for two years versus the three or four year enlistment for those who volunteer. If a young American, who has everything given to him, avoids or protests this two years for his country, why will he turn to assume the responsibilities of leadership and government so vital to our freedom and our way of life.

"Get out of Viet Nam" seems to be a slogan that is very popular among the people who know nothing about the conditions in that oppressed nation. I'm sure that the men who are giving up their lives to keep freedom in Viet Nam are greatly embarrassed by this reaction from their fellow men who are satisfied to fight with mothers and words rather than force. I'm a great distance from Viet Nam but I feel that the lack of responsibility is a great shame.

Efforts are now being made to add to the Prairie Creek State Park two areas known as Gold Bluffs and Fern Canyon. These areas together comprise a tract of 2000 acres in which the Redwoods grow right down to the sea.
This is a region of exceptional beauty and grandeur. Failure to acquire it will probably result in the construction of a freeway along this coast, separating the trees from the ocean by a man-made barrier and destroying forever their unique ecological relationship.

Save the Redwoods.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The California Coast Redwoods (Sequoia sempervirens) are fast disappearing. Modern machinery can, in a few hours, convert into lumber trees that have taken a thousand years to mature.

Future generations will see these magnificent trees only in state parks where they have been preserved. The land for these parks has been previously reserved for the State of California.

Efforts are now being made to add to the Prairie Creek State Park two areas known as Gold Bluffs and Fern Canyon. These areas together comprise a tract of 2000 acres in which the Redwoods grow right down to the sea.
This is a region of exceptional beauty and grandeur. Failure to acquire it will probably result in the construction of a freeway along this coast, separating the trees from the ocean by a man-made barrier and destroying forever their unique ecological relationship.

Of the 2000 acres required, 1000 have already been purchased by the Save-the-Redwoods League and 500 more by the State of California. Pacific Lumber, the present owners of the land, have contributed 30 acres and have agreed to sell the remaining 470 acres for $50,000 if the sum can be raised by May 10, 1966.

Preservation of the Gold Bluffs-Fern Canyon region should be a matter of concern to all of us. Contributions may be sent to Save-the-Redwoods League, 114 Sansome Street, San Francisco, California.

CANDOR IS ESSENTIAL

Case Nays of Viet Nam. Sen. Clifford P. Case, (R., N.J.), this week declared that "there is a special need for candor" in the Administration's handling of information on the fighting in Viet Nam. He charged that not only have the facts been withheld by President Johnson about the true state of affairs there, but that "our Government has completely misinformed its citizens."

The complete text of his statement:

At a time when the American people are being asked to shoulder heavy responsibilities in Viet Nam and elsewhere, there is a special need for candor and the fullest possible disclosure of pertinent information by our Government.

For more than a year now, the question of North Viet Nam's willingness to enter talks about a possible settlement has been a factor of important national interest. We have been told, time and again, that the Hanoi regime has never given any indication that it wanted such talks.

The Department of State has now admitted, however, that North Viet Nam did in fact offer to meet with the United States in August, 1964, and that the offer was rejected.

There may well have been good reasons for doing so. It is in any event a matter of judgment on which men of good will might differ. There can be no justification, however, for the subsequent and repeated denials by the highest officials of our Government that any such offer had ever been made.

If the democratic process is to be sustained and strengthened, it is essential that the public be told all the facts, except as national security may otherwise require.

The withholding of information is, had enough. It is completely intolerable that our Government should deliberately misinform its citizens. Such conduct leads inevitably to misunderstanding, confusion and a loss of confidence in public officials both in America and abroad.

As a consequence, it undermines public confidence, disclosure strengthens it. That is why I have suggested a Senate-Fullbright Committee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that we make public the transcript of our recent closed-door inquiry on the Dominican Republic.

There have been news reports of conclusions prematurely based on "evidence" offered to the Committee neither the source nor the accuracy of which can be judged by the public.

Conflicting accounts of what was or was not presented in the case of facts to the Committee have made for a confusion that can only be dissipated by publication of the actual transcript, except for names of strictly security information.

BAZAAR ALMOST HERE

Stuart Ready for Dec. 4 French people, golf and ski, a Christmas are among the items ready for the highest bidder at the "silent auction" to be held Saturday, December 4 during the third annual Christmas Bazaar at Stuart Country Day School.

NEW DIRECTOR SUCCEEDS
 With Choir Students. "A tough act to follow," is an old show-business saying from the days of vaudeville, and nobody understands it as Princeton implications better than William Trego, who followed Thomas Hilbish as director of the Princeton High School Choir.

Mr. Trego stepped before 81-voice choir for the first time on Wednesday, September 8 at 10 a.m., picked up a pile of music and handed it to a girl in the first row.

COACH AND TEAM: Bill Trego is the new director of the Princeton High School Choir. A teacher and musician with concern for the individual behind the voice, he spends as much time as he can with each member of the various high school choirs. Here he is with the four officers of Choir 1. (Left to right) Aonalee McConnell, secretary; Steve Bryant, president; Laurie Bain, treasurer.

"Here, Grace," he said, "pass green and piable and can be these around, will you?" "Certainly, Mr. Trego," the girl replied, then turned her head in an astounded double-take. "He knew my name!"

He did indeed. In fact, as that first day went on and he held individual auditions he greeted each choir member by name. "Hello, Fraser." "You're Anne, aren't you?" "Good to see you, Steve."

For a week before the start of school, Bill Trego had sat at his desk matching pictures in the Princeton High School year-book with names on the roster of choir members.

The Individual. "It wasn't just a gimmick," he says, earnestly. "I believe thoroughly and completely in the individual. I want to develop each one of these youngsters vocally, musically and even spiritually, if I can. One of the first things I did was to put around a questionnaire about favorite subjects, outside interests and hobbies, because I only the assignment, but the want to KNOW these youngsters."

"My plan," he says with enthusiasm, "is to give individual attention to each singer: 15 minutes a month, either before or after school, for vocal and 'largo' instruction. I don't believe in formal voice lessons for kids one bit," he explained, this age — the voice is too "while 'largo' is large, flowing and broad. Maybe you can remember it this way: 'Last night I was out with a girl named Largo, she was a slow brood.'"

"I'm a detailist," he warns, "and I believe in hard work. I call a spade a spade, and I won't say 'You're good' when they're lousy. I will make them go over and over and over a passage and some students hate this, but they have to get used to it; after all," he he smiles with a warm smile, "I do it out of love. And I know myself that you can carry perfectionism 'so far.'"

"You know," and he leans forward with the intent manner that the students have come to know, "these Princeton choir youngsters are a problem in a way: they aren't interested in singing anything that isn't difficult! They're using Weber, of course. Right now, we're working on Stravinsky's 'Symphony of Psalms' which they'll do in January with the Princeton University Orchestra under Harangy."

Vivaldi, Hindemith. "I plan to continue on Page 20 to build a repertoire from all periods." Mr. Trezzo says, and from his little notebook, he produces the curriculum for the coming year.

There's a Vivaldi "Gloria" for Christmas in the University Chapel (and possibly a Bach cantata); the Haydn Mass in B-flat from the classical period and the Brahms motet, "Warum ist das Licht Gegeben?" from the romantic.

Right now, Choir 1 is learning Randall Thompson's setting for a poem by Robert Frost, and soon they'll begin on Thompson's "Peaceable Kingdom." Hindemith's Six Chansons are in that little notebook and the Palestrina "Cantate Deo" and the Caudatus from the Bach B Minor Mass.

Chorus Choir 1 is as large, Mr. Trezzo has formed, from its membership, four groups. One is a Chamber Choir of 50 voices, composed of 10 sopranos, 10 altos, 10 tenors and 10 basses. The other is a group of 100 voices, the Chorus Choir, which is the cream of Choir 1 voices. "The ones who can really get tone, production and finesse. Besides, I think the polyphonic period—around 1400 and 1500—produced the best music for training young musicians."

Mr. Trezzo: But all is not all roses on this.

Know Your Carpet

When one questions the average installation price for carpeting in an average-sized room, we can only say that the price is determined by the amount of wear you can expect the carpet to receive. The higher the pile and the closer the weave determine the length of wear and they also determine the price. Most carpet is made in 12 and 15 ft. widths, and therefore, if a room is 11x24, the customer would have to pay for a 12 x 24. Only in custom carpet do you pay for the exact size as it can be woven or tufted to the room measurements.

In no opinion, the best and only good way to install carpet is tackless. It leaves no pockets around the walls as tacks do. It eliminates the possibility of carpet pulling away from the wall when cleaned and makes everyday cleaning much easier; as there are no small pockets for dirt to collect in.

We have used good sponge pads with great success — about 1" thick. There are, however, cheap sponge pads that will deteriorate. Don't be fooled by a so-called "bargain."

Consider the quality of your carpet padding well. Use any combination hair and jute from 40 or on up, 32 or 40 or all-hair or any good 1" sponge as mentioned above.

"Just for my own information, I gave a music test," and Bill Trezzo buries his eyes in his hand. I gave it to 160 students and only 28 passed. They didn't know the time value of rest; they couldn't write the F major scale; they didn't know intervals or even how to read a key signature!"

And this highly articulate young teacher was apologetic. "I plan to give them theory, fundamentals and the history of music one day a week—six to nine weeks on each. But I wonder," he muses, "what elementary schools and the private music teachers have been teaching them!"

But even if he has to take his fingers back to kindergarten for a time Bill Trezzo will have little opposition because the allow who went last spring at Tom Hilbush's departure and the bartones who said they would never leave the choir, are now staunch in their loyalty to the new man. They would never, never say that he has taken Mr. Hilbush's place, but they could ever do that, but he has been wholeheartedly accepted and what more adult, teaching a bunch of teenagers, could ask for more?

BABY CARE IS SUBJECT
of Hospital Lecture.
Instruction on the care of newborn infants will be given without charge to expectant parents by Princeton Hospital beginning Monday, November 29. The instruction will be in the form of a series of lectures running for eight Monday evenings from 7:30-9:30.

The program will be co-sponsored by the Princeton units of Visiting Nurse Association and American Red Cross. Mrs. Elizabeth Bueher will act as instructor. Following each discussion there will be exercises for mothers-to-be who are interested.

Advance registration for the program must be made at the office of any of the three sponsors or at any doctor's office. The talks will be delivered in the hospital's lecture rooms.

PLANS ANNOUNCED

For Christmas Greens Show. Plans have been completed and committees organized for Hopewell Valley Garden Club's Christmas Greens Show, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, December 3 and 4. The show will be open from 2 to 9 on Friday and from 10 to 6 on Saturday in the Hopewell Presbyterian Church. A small donation will be requested.

Mrs. Donald D'Arcy, artistic class consultant, said entrance from the public is still being accepted. Entries must be not more than eight inches high and must interpret a Christmas card which is to be displayed with it. Prospective entrants may call Mrs. D'Arcy at 609-737-0501.

General chairman for the show will be Mrs. Dan Davis. Mrs. A.V. O'Neil, Jr., Mrs. Townsend Scudder and Mrs. Richard Wilner are George N. Hall, Jr. will be honorary chairman. Others on the show committee are Mrs. Walter Chartier and Mrs. Mortimer Zand, entrants: Mrs. Robert Green, Judges: Mrs. Richard Edling, presiding; Mrs. Merlin Beecher, classification, and

For YMCA Drive. Chocolate mints will again be sold to raise money for the YMCA World Service Drive. Proceeds of the drive, held annually by most of the YMCA's in North America, will be used to begin and further YMCA work in foreign countries.

Instances of YMCA work in foreign lands range from building recreational facilities to providing formal education facilities. The youth membership of the Y will sell the chocolate mints.

SKI CHAMPION TO TALK
At Nassau Inn, Olympic Gold Medalist Stein Eriksen will speak at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, December 1, at the Nassau Inn under the auspices of the Princeton Ski Club.

Now an instructor at Sugarbush Valley, Vt., Stein Eriksen was a member of the Norwegian Olympic team in 1922 and 1923, winning the Gold Medal in the giant slalom. Advance tickets are on sale at Male's Book Shop, Frank's Sport Shop and Varsity Sport Shop in Princeton and at Capital Sporting Goods, Trenton. Donations are 75c.

GIRLS IN FINALS
Of Junior Miss Pageant. Two Princeton High School students are among the 15 finalists in the second annual Mercer County Junior Miss Pageant. Grace Mazurek, Bridge Point Road, Belle Mead, and Bernadette Yeager, 228 Witherspoon Street, will enter the finals at the Hopewell Valley Regional High School in Pennington on December 3 at 8 p.m.

The girls will compete for a $200 scholarship sponsored by the Pennington Jaycees. They will be judged on the basis of poise, personality, appearance, talent and scholastic achievement. The winner will qualify for the State Pageant scheduled for Elizabeth in January, which will precede the National Pageant in Mobile, Ala., in the spring.

Six Hopewell Valley Regional High School students are also among the finalists. They are: Theresa Schatzler, Linda Turner and Karen Nix, Tintsville; Susan Petach, Pennington; Deborah Savage, Cherry Valley Road, Princeton; and Colleen Smith, Lambertville.

THE BALL BOUNCES
In Tennis Court Rite. West Windsor's Board of Education has refused to shoulder half of the $14,000 cost of two all-weather tennis courts at the Maurice J. Hawk School, as proposed by the Township Committee.

John Janick, chairman of the building and grounds committee said at last week's meeting that the Township should pay for the full cost since the school board is to own the land. When another board member noted the Committee's threat to build the courts elsewhere, if the school board refused to share costs, a resident remarked, "Let them. The Township Recreation Committee has done anything for the community since it was formed."

If the courts are built at the school, they would be used by the students during school hours and be open to the public during the summer and when not in use by the school.

Hitchhiking. The number of Princeton High School students who thumb a ride home because there is no late bus caused about 20 residents to appear requesting help at a meeting. The board said that the transportation committee will be asked for the extra route later this month and award a contract if it is satisfactory price. It hopes to establish a late route by December 1.

The State Department of Health, the board said.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Flickinger of Scott Avenue, De Charles Flickinger, 5, to kindergarten is still pending response to board inquiries made to the State Board of Education, the attorney General and lighted bellies, they said. Once the board hears from the state, it plans to review the matter.

Pizza Gets an "A"

What's the favorite lunch with New Jersey school kids? Pizza! Followed by hoagies, spaghetti, hamburgers and hot-dogs.

And who should know better than Mrs. Miriam Hughes, state supervisor for the Federal hot-lunch program, served in 901 New Jersey schools, including Princeton's.

Hastily, Mrs. Hughes adds that school lunches are always balanced: "The pizza lunch includes tossed salad, milk and cherry cobbler," she says.

Turkey has more devotees than barbecued beef, oven-baked chicken or meat loaf. Vegetables — well, who rats vegetable soup? Corn and peas are "least disliked," Mrs. Hughes says. French fries, peaches and fruit-cup are easy to sell.

The average cost of an elementary school lunch is 30¢. High schools charge 35¢ in a futile attempt to fill up the teen-age gap. For some students, Mrs. Hughes says, the school lunch is the main meal of the day, for many, the only balanced meal.

New Taylor's hand will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Tickets may be added to add advance, and may be purchased by contacting any friend or auxiliary member. Tickets may also be ordered by calling Mrs. J. J. Holmes at 790-0110 or Mrs. Anita Mount at 448-2939.

TUITION RAISED

For Princeton University: Princeton University President Robert Goheen has announced a $100 increase in tuition and fees effective during the academic year 1966-67. The decision will advance the current annual charge of $1710 to $1810.

President Goheen said the tuition hike reflects the need for money to maintain in competition with other colleges for attracting an outstanding faculty. He pointed out, "This tuition merits less than one-half of the cost of each student's education."

President Goheen also announced that yearly room and board charges will advance by $10 each. He added that Princeton will increase the amount of aid available to students through fellowships, scholarships, loans and employment, so that no student now enrolling need to interrupt his education for financial reasons.

LODGE WILL MEET

To Install Officers: Officers of Thistle Lodge 220 for the coming year will be installed on Friday at 8 at a meeting of the Daughters of Scotia at 53½ Wintersetown Street.

Grand Deputy Thelma Douglas of Lady Ferguson Lodge 246, Point Pleasant, will be the installing officer. Visitors are welcome.

NEW P. R. MAN CHOSEN

At Princeton Hospital: Donald L. Evans, former executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, has been named acting public relations director for Princeton Hospital during the illness of Mrs. Douglas E. Stuart. He will direct news and radio relations and serve as editor of "Broadcast," a monthly news magazine.

Mr. Evans came to Princeton in 1957 after working as a public relations director at Clark University in Worcester, Mass. He has worked for several newspapers including Ohio daily papers as well as the Princeton Packet and the Princeton Herald.

GRANT ANNOUNCED

To Princeton University: A $15,000 unrestricted grant from the American Oil Foundation has been announced by Princeton University President Robert F. Goheen. The funds will be used in support of the undergraduate educational program.

Elmer W. Grunow, administrative manager of the New York office of American Oil Company, presented the grant to President Goheen. Mr. Grunow now was accompanied by Nelson W. Thompson, vice-president of the Nassau Oil Company in Princeton.

APPLICATIONS ARE DUE

For Award Competition: Contestants wishing to enter the Career Award competition sponsored by the state chapter of The National Society of Arts and Letters must file application forms no later than December 10. The applications must include 35mm color slides of two paintings and should be sent to Mrs. Theodore Henning, 521 State Road.

Contestants will be competing for a national career award of $1000, which will be given on February 5 at Drew University in Madison. Prospective entrants may contact Mrs. Henning at 609 924-9403 for rules and further information. Only non-professional artists between 14 and 26 are eligible.

CHAIRMAN ANNOUNCED

For March of Dimes: Alan G. Haskins & Lakeview Avenue, Kingston, has been named chairman of the 1966 March of Dimes in South Brunswick. This will be his third year as chairman.

Mr. Haskins is president of the South Brunswick Township Democratic Club, treasurer of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company and a member of the board of directors of the Middlesex County Chapter of The National Foundation. He is employed by I.B.M. in Dayton.

ADDICTS: CRIMINALS OR SICK PERSONS? Criminals, say Michael Murphy, Jr. and Jerry Opperman, Princeton High School seniors. Both feel addicts know they're doing wrong when starting taking dope. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Should dope addicts be treated as criminals or sick persons?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Michael Murphy, 4 Cherrybrook Drive, Princeton High senior. I say they should be considered as criminals because they know they're breaking the law and they go right on doing it. It's no different than any other crime.

Jerry Opperman, Forestral Research Center, Princeton High senior. I feel they should be treated as criminals because when they started they knew they were doing something wrong. They could have kicked it at the beginning and not got hooked. But they keep going for bigger kicks and before long they find they have to commit all sorts of crimes to support the habit.

Robert Dougherty, 95 Library Place, secretary, Edmund Cook & Company. I think they should be treated as sick persons but in such a way as to protect the safety of the public. An example would be the federal facilities in Lexington, KY, where there is a hospital for the treatment of addicts.

Mrs. Allen G. Shenstone, 111 Mercer Street, housewife. Sick persons I think there is usually some psychological and economic basis behind the addiction — and you are not going to cure them by putting them in jails which are already badly overcrowded.

Jack Deaver, 27 Hawthorne Avenue, graduate student, French Literature. As sick persons, no doubt about it. I feel, in most cases, we have dope addicts because society has failed these individuals in some way. You don't find children becoming dope addicts — only people who have been in contact with the world for some while.

Miss Tracy Bell, Pennington, assistant film editor. I think as sick persons, because they really are sick. They're responsible for what they do but they need special treatment. I think when they are treated as a group — such as Alcoholics Anonymous — they learn what it's like to be healthy. It doesn't do any good to stick them in prison; they'll just repeat their crimes. I think they need treatment. At least with treatment, there is a chance for reform.

Mrs. Norman Stewart, Kendall Park, housewife. Definitely as sick persons because they are. Once they've become addicted it's a mental thing and I feel they have to be treated both physically and psychologically.

Marlo Grieben, Faculty Board Apartments, post-graduate student, public relations. As sick persons. The addict needs treatment but I think those who distribute dope and heroin should be put to death. I have seen some medical treatment done on addicts in the infirmary and it has had some beneficial effect. It's a matter of will; you have to go into the mind, but treatment absolutely. It's the best way. I was a political prisoner for four years in Argentina during Peron's regime and I was thrown into prison with addicts and all the rest. The things that happened — I tell you it's no good.

Michael Bell, Langhorne, Pa., graduate student, Princeton University, chemical engineer. I feel they should be treated definitely as sick persons. With all our methods of treating criminals, we're penalizing rather than helping make them better members of society. I think all people should have the opportunity to fit into and be respected members of society. Treating anyone with our existing methods reduces this opportunity to almost nothing.

Mrs. Frieda Bauer, 3 Greenholm Place, doctor's receptionist. Definitely as sick persons. Usually it's some sort of stress or anxiety that drives people into taking dope in the first place. They become nervous and don't know how to be able to rid themselves of the stress. They become addicts but there is still an illness connected with it. Having worked for an internist at one time, I've seen this happen. . . . sometimes drives them to it, but a criminal? Oh, no!

T. Richard Snyder, Princeton-Wadsworth Apartments, senior graduate student. Sick persons. I think for the most part dope addiction is asymptomatic for a deeper-seated problem, much as alcoholism is, and while one might deal with the symptom through some form of mental isolation, the problem would not be cured and another symptom or the same would reappear. Therefore, psychiatric help for persons having this problem is the primary consideration.

Sam Mater, Princeton-Wadsworth Apartments, graduate student, Princeton Seminary. They're responsible for what they've done, but once they're hooked, they turn into criminals to support the habit. But they're definitely sick. They're sick in all areas of life, not only physically but emotionally and spiritually. It's hard to categorize them as either criminals or sick people — it's a spiritual problem as well. They're seeking something, something is lacking in their lives, there's a void there and they will keep on turning to drugs until this void is filled.

Ralph Beld, Kingston, graduate student, mathematics. It depends on your definition of dope addict but I get the impression most real addicts come on to the habit as a result of a former illness: they've started taking drugs for medical reasons and they've gotten hooked on it. My father, who is a doctor, has told me this has been his experience with most addicts. And those who start on it that way, do so because of mental problems. . . . yes, I say they are sick persons, definitely.

+ These waters hid a Spanish Treasure for more than two centuries

On July 31st, 1713, the Spanish silver fleet was seven days out of port.

Homebound from Vera Cruz, they were laden with silver and gold for the royal mint of King Philip V. Suddenly, a hurricane struck, driving them onto the Florida Reef. The ten vessels perished, along with their cargo and a thousand crewmen.

PETER COOK PAINTS

Show At Nassau Club.
Through December 15, the Nassau Club will have on view portraits and landscapes by Peter Cook. Hanging in the club as part of the permanent collection are two portraits of distinguished former members of the Nassau Club, Woodrow Wilson and Grover Cleveland. Completely different in character, these two Presidents are represented as differently on canvas; Wilson, austere and scholarly, Cleveland, more informally on the porch of "Westlands." As two examples of Peter Cook's official portraits, these speak for themselves.

Furniture. From recent portraits in this informal showing, one finds the key to the artist's whole approach to painting, namely the rendering of visual form in light and air. Take, for example, "Grey Day," reproduced above. This is a portrait of a young girl of twelve. Nevertheless, it is not mid-titled, for it is also a grey day, or enough of it to set the mood and make the air circulate around the pensive figure.

A match of landscape or "escape," a corner of a room or just variations of color may be used as background, but it is always of prime importance in giving that quality of air—new which helps the character to come alive. There is plenty of life in the child "Tara" and "Woman in Blue," for example. These are all Maine pictures; a quiet morn-

"GREY DAY." This pensive young girl is one of the subjects painted by Princeton artist Peter Cook. With other portraits and landscapes, it will be on view at The Nassau Club through December 15. For a review, see "Art In Princeton."

A variety of art work not generally in the island, rocks, and deep water or full foliage in varying moods and light. Naturally less realistic than the portraits, the main concern is still mood, the same. What is seen is painted to create a subject with a feeling of space. Peter Cook feels that landscape painting is an important part of his life as a portrait painter. It is not only a relaxing change but, in allowing greater technical freedom, it tends to keep his portrait painting fresh.

Visitors who wish to see the exhibition, are welcome between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, or from 2 to 5 p.m., and are asked to check at the front desk as they enter.

JEWISH CENTER SHOW

"New Art Trends." Last week, the Women's Division of the Jewish Center offered to the Princeton community the show "New Art Trends" which included paintings, sculpture and Judaica. The women, their husbands, sponsors, friends and artists who contributed the initiative, inspiration, hard labor and entries deserve a special note of appreciation for their efforts and their success.

It is a pity that such a show lasted only three days. Many more people could well have enjoyed this handsome presentation. However, if it isn't too soon to mention it to the Jewish committee, it is hoped that this will happen again. Since the Festival of Arts, an all too short-lived tradition, there has been a need for such an enterprise which can bring together on a large scale, Novelties and Judaica. Out of 203 entries, the emphasis was largely on "new trends" with a good many examples of Op and Pop, new realism and experimental construction. These, in general, did not strike everyone as living up to the dignity of the set scene, but as trends, they are out of what is happening in the art world.

Not as "new" but good and workmanlike were other offerings in the field of abstract and realistic painting, graphics and sculpture. There was something for everyone's taste and for such a heterogeneous collection, it was extremely well hung.

Of particular interest was the Judaica, exhibits pertaining to Jewish themes. There were three prints by Mel Silverman, one the "Ten Beesheers" (Israel), by Gershom Preispino and "Moses" by George Aaron. Among the crafts there were prayer shawls or "talits" and other pieces into which Gladys Holliston has woven the burning bush design. Spun among the artifacts were the Bride's Bible Cover, mezuzahs and memorial pennants by the talented silvermith, Maxwell Chayal.

The great room of the Jewish Center was transformed into an attractive gallery. The show was managed well from beginning to end and the overall effect was splendid. Everyone should be gratified.

TIGERS CHASE AN INDIAN. TO LITTLE AVAIL: Mickey Beard, Dartmouth quarterback who gained total of 270 yards against Tercs, is object of attention by end Walt Kozumbo (83) and tackle Lee Huchner (71). Beard pored explosive Indian attack that gave Dartmouth 28-to-14 victory in Ivy championship game. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

SPORTS In Princeton

POST-MORTEM ON TIGERS:
The Beard Was Too Tough
It may be over - too tough - to reduce to mathematical terms the reasons for one team's convincing defeat of another in a battle between unbeaten elevens. However, the degree to which Dartmouth quarterback Mickey Beard rose above his norm on Saturday looms as the fundamental factor in the Indians' surprising 28-14 triumph.

Statistically stated, these are the facts: In six previous Ivy games this season, Beard had averaged 82 yards passing against Princeton. He gained 229 in six previous games, he had barely topped 500 on his number of completions whereas against Princeton he was better than 700. In the six earlier Ivy games, he had averaged 97 yards running and passing; against Princeton his total offense was 270.

You cannot, it would follow, allow a key performer such as the T-quarterback of the opposing team to better his norm in passing and in total offense by some 300%, and still expect to win a championship game. To round out the comparison of what Beard did to the Tigers, and how he had fared earlier, he boasted 11 touchdowns average of less than a touchdown per game to two in the first two that turned the tide on Saturday.

From the day that Marly Sponaugle, a journeyman

Corneil quarterback, hit for 203 yards against the Orange and black at Ithaca — sharp in contrast to the virtually invisible 16 yards he had gained here in the final game of 1964 — it was apparent that Princeton had a weakness against passing that was not a part of the picture last fall. Brown's Bob Hall, the best quarterback among the Ivies, might have pitched the Tigers right out of Palmer Stadium if he had not been such a one-man gang. As it was, they needed 15 points to win comfortably against the 27 he hung on the board.

Beard, rated behind Hall as the league's most effective quarterback, had everything going for him Saturday. Cornering Princeton's problems was an imaginative, picturesque aerial attack. It included deception in the manner in which the plays opened up with pass patterns that frequently shook receivers into as lonely an area downfield as a blonde searches for when asking a sunbath. Tiger defenders, or as it seemed, were often barely within sight.

Other Factors, Too. If Beard rose superbly to the game that Dartmouth said it wanted to have all others it had ever played, he was not a one-man gang. In contrast, Landeck veered nearly was.

The Indians lost starting quarterback Paul Kluge early in the action, but came back with a fullback, Tom Urganic who had lost his starting assignment to 225-lb. Pete Walton but was versatile enough to understudy at both positions. The visitors spelled Beard's passing and outside running and Walton's rugged punting through the middle ground with bursts of speed at round the flanks by Bob O'Brien and sophomore Gene Kyzewski. The latter often gave the victors fair field position on punt and kickoff returns.

It took a story-book performance by Landeck to keep the Tigers within reach, after they had scored first and then watched the visitors turn the tide. Visibly shaken by the constant pounding he was taking, Landeck left for the dressing room before second period action had ended.

He returned to play a great second half, raising his passing performance from a dismal 2 for 4 to a free 8 for 14. His offensive total of 240 for the day enabled him to write his name in both the Princeton and Ivy record books where those of such superstars as Dick Kazmaier and Gary Wood had been. See box, page 29.

No one used it as an excuse and the outcome would in all probability not have been different, but Princeton obviously missed quarterback Bob Bedell. The winning game would have benefited from his blocking, and Dick Colman shuffled his quarterbacks in and out of action with plays from the bench in a manner that had not been seen before in Palmer Stadium.

In contrast, Dartmouth's invariably imaginative offense operated at maximum efficiency. Its total output of 435 yards (206 running, 229 passing) was not only beautifully balanced but was better than 100 yards above the norm the Tigers had permitted the other Ivies when the chips are down, this is real football.

Never Behind Before. Does an unbeaten team which suddenly finds itself behind for the first time feel more unfamiliar pressure than it can withstand? The answer may be unanswerable, but the fact remains that for eight full games plus a quarter this season, Princeton had never had to rally to achieve a victory, and it could not do so on Saturday. A one-yard drive in eight plays, set up by an interception in the Princeton 31 by Marty Fiebelberg, put Princeton in motion. Lane's 25-yard punt wound left end to the Indian 11 was the big gainer, and he got the TD on a shot through left tackle from a yard out. Gogolak whose lone field goal attempt of the day had missed earlier in the period from 44 yards away from the point and the Tigers had taken the early lead that had been expected of them.

After stopping the visitor's rushing drive on the Princeton 14 with some fine defensive play by Stan Malrowksi and sophomore tackle Park Gloyd, the Tigers had another shot early in the second quarter. It failed at the Dartmouth 46. Bill Barkley punned out to the Indians 14, and when Princeton failed to contain them there, the tide began to turn.

The New Hampshire eleven drove 60 yards for its first touchdown, twice working its way out of third and long yardage situations in a manner that symbolized the trend the game was taking. The score came at 9:26, less than two and a half minutes later, the Green escaped a pass interception with a 39-yard scoring drive and its 14-7 margin kept it in charge for the rest of the afternoon.

Beating the Tigers at their own game of ball control, Dartmouth was so stingy in the third quarter that Princeton had possession for only 10 plays. Two of these were punts, and the Tigers never crossed midfield.

Touchdowns on the opening play of the final period and at 5:38—the latter a "Heard" yardage situation in a manner that symbolized the trend was the losers' poorest defensive effort of the afternoon—took the game beyond recall. The Tigers battled back to the extent that they got on the scoreboard again with 32 seconds left on a Landek-to-Bruce Gates pass for 38 yards, but the Ivy title passed to Dartmouth in convincing fashion.

Electricity is today's biggest household bargain

Although your electric bills may be higher now than they were back in 1940, consider all the appliances you've added in the last 25 years—appliances which spell the difference between old fashioned drudgery and modern living. In fact, the average home uses more than four times the amount of electricity today than in 1940. But the combination of rate reductions and increased use of electricity has resulted in a 43% decrease in the average unit cost of electricity in the last 25 years. Yes, by bucking the trend of soaring prices, we've been able to maintain electricity's position as your biggest — and best — household bargain.

Gogolak Boots His Way Into the Record Book

When the Princeton record book is revised to include the achievements of the 1965 season, Charlie Gogolak will rank second only to Dick Karmuer in the number of times his name is listed.

The All-American fullback of the early '50's now has ten listings—he has two this year when Ron Landeck erased his name with four touchdown passes in a single game and with 1,940 yards in total offense for one season. Gogolak will be listed eight times.

Seven of the Princeton records set by the side-winding native of Hungary are NCAA marks—the only one that does not quite qualify at the national level is his 94-yard boot against Cornell. The NCAA record is 55.

Gogolak's records include: six field goals in one game against Rutgers; 16 field goals in one season; 27 field goals in his career; 20 points scored kicking in one game (against Rutgers); 81 points scored kicking in one season; 170 points scored kicking in three seasons; and 50 consecutive points after touchdown. All of the foregoing are, of course, also Ivy League records.

Landeck and end Lauson Cashdollar both will place their names in the Princeton and Ivy record books in several categories. The Tigers' great fullback removed Gary Wood's one-season mark for total offense Saturday when he reached 1,646 yards running and passing. He added to his own record with another touchdown pass, raising his season's total to 13. Cashdollar holds the one-season Princeton mark for pass receptions with 20 and the Ivy one-game record with 11 (against Harvard).

Princeton also set a team record in Ivy play with 13 consecutive victories. With seven this year and its last game won in 1964, Dartmouth must take six in a row next year to eclipse this performance.

A Look Ahead. Having picked Dartmouth last summer to win the 1965 Ivy title, TOWN TOPICS sees no reason why the dynasty at Hanover should not continue. Three-quarters of its fine starting backfield returns, with Byrnes ready to replace senior Bob O'Brien. Coach Bob Blackman has more than enough good linemen and defensive backs, despite the loss of 18 seniors, to rate as the 1966 choice.

Harvard and Yale, both blessed with good freshman material, seem likely to develop T quarterbacks somewhere along the line, thus improving their chances to challenge Dartmouth. Princeton, without Landeck, Savidge, Maliszewski, Johnson and others, may have enough to stay in first division but in the last few years, there has been a noticeable decline in the quality of players enrolling here. Upsets over the University's admissions policy, whether justified or not, are on the increase.

Penn appears set to make his bid for improvement somewhat stronger. Cornell has a fair share of material but an apparent coaching problem; Brown and Columbia figure to remain the defenders of the last ditch, at least for another season.

PIHS LOSSES, 25-13

To Madison in finale. Princeton High School may have lost its final game of the season but it went out in style, nevertheless. Against the Little Tigers led a highly-favored Madison Township, 13-6, but they were overwhelmed in the end by the brilliance of the passing of the Spartans. Glenn Davis, Davis connected on four aerials to Jim Hogan, one in each quarter, as the home team (72) came on to win the second half, 25-13.

A few words have to be said about Davis, even though he is a stranger to most Mercer County fans. For the 5-10, 170 pound senior, the Little Tiger contest was the culmination of a high school career which saw him throw touchdown passes. Against PIHS he was 4-for-19 for an estimated 326 yards passing and 4 TD's. They measured 62, 12, 19 and 25 yards. Another pass covered 12 yards before the receiver was caught by Houston Webber on the 15.

Said PIHS coach Dick Wood of Davis: "He's the first you can't imagine how good he is until you see him. He threw that ball a mile."

While the Little Tigers won't soon forget Davis, he has occasion to remember them, too. They intercepted him three times—the most he had been intercepted in any game. Wood added that his players made a mistake when they batted down two other Davis aerials which they could have intercepted.

Interpreting for PIHS were Vince Boenecasse, Curt Mitchell and Richi Vals. Vals ran his back from the PIHS 40 to the Madison 15 in the fourth quarter but the Blue and White was unable to capitalize on the theft.

Both Little Tiger scores occurred in the second quarter. Ed McEwen capped a six-play drive with a five-yard run and Bill Currier passed 15 yards to Boenecasse for the second tally. Craig Wood kicked the PAT. His first attempt was wide.

PIHS Line Feels. Commenting on the game Wood said: "We would have liked to have won, but I think we played well on the whole. The entire line played exceptionally well on defense." In the first half, the Blue and White held Madison to eight yards rushing.

Davis' passing forced PIHS to play loose. "We started with a 3-3 defense all afternoon," Wood said. "But when they couldn't do any better running against us then they did 180 yards in the second half. I don't believe they would have done as nearly as well as they have this season without Davis. He's their whole team."

Despite a quick start and a 9-0 lead, the Blue and White

END HIS PLAYING CAREER: Among the 30 PHS seniors who played their last game Saturday were Glenn Christianson, 6-1, 175-lb. center, and Mark Hennessey, 6-2, 172-lb. end. The latter scored one of the Little Tigers' 16 touchdowns this year when he fell on a fumble in the end zone in the Irving contest. (Staff Photos) against doctor's orders, Bill Crutcher told his wish to play in his final game. Bill, who generally was the spark of the PHS defense during the season through his running and passing, connected on that one TD pass to Boesenfuss. The PHS tailback was not called on to block or allowed to make any tackles.

He shared passing with his counterpart, Craig Wood. The latter was cited for his all-around play by Coach Wood, who said that Craig ran well and passed well. His punting for the day was exceptional. One kick stopped dead on the Madison seven and another went out of bounds on the five.

Both Wood and Crutcher are seniors. Other backfield players who have played their last game are fullbacks Lou Balestrieri and Craig Bechler, quarterbacks Jack Van Zandt and Dan Corington and wingback Ed McEwen.

 Senior linemen are ends Vince Boesenfuss, Ben Apple, Mark Dannenbaker, Bill Dunlap, Joe Harding and Dave Gray. Tackles Anthony Arcene, Carl DeCavalente, Mike Emmert, Don Joleg, Paul Lee-man and Dennis Bain; guards George Markson, Dave Nichols, Dennis O'Keefe, Bob Rogers, George Rohrbacher, John Tabeck, and contents Richard Stewart, Glenn Christianson, Mike Fined and Bill Reed, Stewart and Arany were co-captains of the 1965 squad.

Looking Back: How did Wood feel about the season just ended? "On the whole I think we 5-4 had a good season. We had some lapses, we made mistakes, too many but that's part of football. We were in the contention in every ball game."

Wood continued: "I think the second half at Trenton was probably our poorest performance of any game, and the last quarter with Notre Dame was equally poor." PHS lost both, 12-7 to TIS and 13-10 to ND, after seemingly well on the way to winning both.

"Even against Thomas Jefferson we played well," Wood said. "I think that was our best defensive game." And most recently, PHS, with both co-captains out and minus its top-notch tackle, Carl DeCavalente, still gave Madison a spunky fight.

"I've always felt this way," said Wood. "The most important thing is to win. That's going to be the final test of any game, whether you win or lose."

"I don't go for this stuff, it doesn't matter who wins, that's your building character. Every week, I go out there with the idea that we are going to win. You can't win them all, but I feel that I and the rest of the coaches have worked as hard as we can and now we're going to do as well as we can next year."

As for next year, Wood said that he expects to welcome a good nucleus back. A few of the names already familiar are Keith Weaver, the newly-found field goal kicker who kicked three in the last four games; John McEwen, Mike Pomanski and Brandon Stechkin, a trio of line tackles; Rich Volz, fine defensive end and Tom Wood, 6-5, 210 offensive end, and Bob White, a fine guard.

In the backfield will be Jeff Bullock, Carl Mitchell, Keny Weiber, who played in every game this season, and Tom Butterfuss, 6-3, 211-lb. tackle. Scouting statistics for the year show that PHS tallied 16 touchdowns and three field goals for a total of 715 points. It yielded 17 TD's, and 187 points.

Individual scouting honors went to fullback Lou Balestrieri who planned for five scores. He was followed by Ed McEwen with four and Vince Boesenfuss, three. Jeff Bullock added a pair and Mark Dannenbaker and Craig Bechler accounted for one apiece.

UN BLANKS FINNETT
 For 63-1 Record, A spectacular 102-yard runback of an intercepted flat pass by Hun's Mike Miller in the final minute of play Saturday, enabled Hun to avert a possible 7-7 tie with Pennington. Visiting Hun won, 14-0.
 As a consequence Hun ended with a fine 6-1 record and 4-1-1 in the Penn. Jersey League. Pennington defeated Friends Central in its finale. Hun, the defending champion, had to settle for second place in the League, one point behind. In its past two seasons, Hun has won 14, lost one and tied one.

At Pennington, it was a pitched battle between the running of Hun and the passing of two Pennington quarterbacks, Dave Cook and Brad Williams. Between them, they completed 16 of 25 attempts for 150 yards. In contrast Hun, completed only one pass, losing three yards on the effort, but amassed 147 yards on the ground to the loers' 50.
 After a scoreless first half, tight halfbacks, Steve Carr got Hun on the score board in a hurry, ridding 32 yards up the middle for six points. It was the fifth play of the third quarter and capped a 61 yard thrust.

Pennington, which got as far as the Hun 13 in the first half was finding the Hun defense tough to crack. Sophomore Duke Chale, a 225-pound tackle, who weighed only 205 pounds at the start of practice this fall, made 16 tackles. Rudy Beitel was in on 11 more and Jay Rubie, too, according to Hun coach Hawley.

Savidge Seriously Injured

Paul Savidge, captain of the Princeton football team, sustained a cervical spinal fracture in the Dartmouth game Saturday. In satisfactory condition in Princeton Hospital, intensive care unit, he will be in traction from four to six weeks.

Savidge broke the bone on a play late in the third period while making a tackle on the Dartmouth halfback, Tom Urbane. Unaware of the seriousness of the injury, he remained in the game for two more plays before removing himself from action.

He spent the night in the University Infirmary, and was removed to the hospital after the X-rays had been diagnosed as a fracture. Because of his injury, the annual football banquet, scheduled for Monday night, has been postponed indefinitely.

Waterman was outstanding on defense. They took two minutes to go, the Red Raiders reached the Hun seven. A possible tie was averted four plays later when Miller picked off a Cook pass two yards into the end zone. With the entire Hun squad yelling "fire," its code word for an interception pass, Miller staggered down the length of the field behind excellent blocking.

The Longest Run, said Waterman afterwards, "That was the longest run I've ever seen. Hun players make since I've been here and I'm winding up my tenth year as coach." Scott Anderson, captain of the Hun soccer team, then kicked the extra point in a Charlie Gogolak. "He's been practicing kicking that way, all week," Waterman said. Ray Robble kicked Hun's first PAT.

Although Hun was bumped from the league championship, it did lay claim to another distinction. According to Waterman, Hun boasts the best de-

Another top sophomore was 6-2 Joe Heiser, whose 194 points last winter won him the second highest-scoring freshman player in Princeton history. Only Bradley topped him. Heiser a backcourt man has moved — two years ago he was voted the best high school basketball player in Philadelphia, a city noted for a number of football contributions to the sport. He has been slowed by a wrist fracture sustained in tough football action. (Continued on Page 3)

As for 1966, Hun loses its entire first team with the exception of the left tackle, Mike Otis. Waterman is optimistic, however, that Hun can continue to win "Things still look good for next year," he said. "We have a good nucleus coming back."

CAN TIGERS ADJUST?
To End of Bradley Era. On seven other Ivy League campuses this fall, there is an awareness that for the first time since 1962, Princeton will field a basketball team without Bill Bradley. On at least three of them — Columbia, Cornell and Penn. — there is belief that they may have won championship come early March.

In Dillion Gymnasium, Coach Bill van Breda Kolff and a squad minus anyone wearing number 42 have been practicing since November 1 with the feeling that they have enough holdover strength to make run for a fourth straight title. The degree of success they achieve will depend largely on the extent to which they look to the present and forget that for three straight years, they had in their midst a player who averaged 30 points a game and was at his best when needed most. It is a tough assignment.

Strongest factor in the Tiger's favor is that no other senior last winter was a member of the starting five. The quartet of holdover regulars, consists of 6-2 Captain Bob Haxel, 6-8 Robby Brown, 6-2 Don Rodenhach and 5-10 Gary Walters. Assuming these four return their starting assignments, against some fine bench talent, the fifth starter may be 6-6 Ed Hummer, who began slowly as a sophomore last year but made steady improvement from the mid-season point on. And Lee Bradley, he was a high school All-American.

Neither Robby Brown nor Hummer appear to have the stamina necessary for 40 minutes of fast-breaking action, and it may be that van Breda Kolff will prefer to alternate them as he did last season. The fifth starter is likely to be chosen from among Al Miller and Bill Kunk. A pair of 6-3 juniors, and John Ularow, "little" 6-6 brother of Captain Bob. John follows Bill Haxel 64 and the present Tiger captain as the third member of

MUSIC In Princeton

MUSIC IN McARTER

Pittsburgh Symphony heard, On Monday night, The Pittsburgh Symphony under the direction of William Steinberg, performed before Series I Theatre, McArter's choric, Mr. Steinberg chose to program the Tenth and Variations for Orchestra, Opus 43B by Schonberg; Beethoven's Symphony No. 9, "Fidelio"; A Symphonic Study in C Minor, Opus 48, by Elgar; and "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," (the four poems), Opus 28, by Richard Strauss.

The Schonberg work which began the concert was initially scored for band, and indeed, I believe, for a high-school group to perform. Later the composer created the orchestral version. He should not have bothered.

The music would seem to be an attempt to prove to the composer's critics that Schonberg could compose in a tonal idiom. "Fidelio," "Nacht," could have been ample proof that Schonberg was indeed a master in any idiom. However, if the composer had to prove something to himself, in this piece, at least, he failed miserably.

The work abounds in trite harmonic progressions that are simply in poor taste, and an overall four-square rhythmic structure that never gets off the ground.

Despite all this, the crafts-

When a woman tells me her new hair color makes her feel prettier than ever, I'm delighted. A good hairdresser, like any artist, strives to achieve beauty in color and form — and to protect that beauty once he achieves it.

When I work for a subtle, natural looking effect in hair coloring, I certainly want it to keep that effect. I do this by giving conditioning treatments whenever the hair needs it. This is one reason we are asked for our hair coloring skills.

manship of the master comes through. There are some brilliant orchestral textures and an occasional glimpse into the composer's genius.

The Beethoven Symphony that followed is an acknowledgment masterpiece, and it received performance of intensity and drive that tended to be too frenetic and that at times this music possesses. The pace seemed too hurried and the contrasts too brief, but the playing was impeccably clear and the sonorities beautiful.

The symphonic poem, "Fidelio" by Elgar which followed the intermission was given a powerful and energetic performance but the strenuous effort by the conductor and orchestra could not bring this abomination to life despite some infrequent moments of interest here and there. Much of the music simply lacks the clarity of the technique displayed by the composer. It is a shame that the drama and the building up of climaxes is exaggerated, to say the least.

Here Mr. Steinberg taught us a lesson. For his choice of the Strauss "Till Eulenspiegel" displayed all the grace, dignity, elegance, beauty of line, color, development, balance and creative skill that the orchestra lacked. Both compositions were centered around clouds, but only one, our good friend "Till," is immortal.

Steinberg's performance of Strauss' brilliant masterpiece was both vicious and during. This reading was more or less consistent with Steinberg's approach to the Beethoven and the Elgar. Throughout the evening the horns played magnificently and the orchestra as a whole played cleanly. Their sound is a bit harsh, sometimes brittle. The balance occasionally suffers for want of more string tone, but the orchestra, in sacrificing the melodic lines that one might wish for, creates its own inner fire and excitement that is certainly stimulating.

As an encore Mr. Steinberg led his forces in the Overture to the Marriage of Figaro by Mozart. For the first time, the orchestra demonstrated that it could produce softer, warmer sounds yet bring about an equally precise and clear performance.

BUSINESS In Princeton

DILLEY TO RUN CHAMBER
As Executive Director, Robert V. Dilley, Chamber of Commerce, effective immediately.
A management engineer who has been a resident of Princeton for 10 years, Mr. Dilley directed the assembling of data for the report of the Princeton Committee on Municipal Operations ("consolidation"). The report was released in September.

Mr. Dilley is a graduate of Dartmouth and of the Harvard School of Business Administration and has been an active figure in Princeton's business and civic affairs.

He is a member of the board of the Child Guidance Center of Mercer County and of the Princeton Ballet Society. In 1961, he was campaign chairman of the United Fund drive. His wife, Jean, is chairman of the Princeton Adult School.

Mr. Dilley will manage the Chamber's office at 41 Palmer Square West, assisted by Miss Isabel Groszold, and will direct the Chamber's various activities in the areas of community planning and commercial development.

TO RAISE DIVIDENDS

On Savings Certificates. The Princeton Bank announced this week an increase to 4½% in the bank's interest rate on savings certificates.

"The board of directors' decision is a tangible expression of our confidence in the economic growth of the Princeton area," said Ralph Mathey, president of First National. "It is designed to materially reward our customers for their confidence in the bank."

Mr. Mathey reinforced his depositors' confidence by making the first bank in the Princeton area to increase its interest rate to 4½% on savings accounts.

Robert V. Dilley

The increase was announced in July.

DIVIDEND ANNOUNCED

By Bank and Trust, 1 year-end extra dividend of 20¢ per share was announced this week by the Board of Directors of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company. The dividend is payable on December 15 to stockholders of record on November 26. Increasing total cash payments in 1963 to $1.00 per share.

In January, 1965, the directors announced that quarterly dividends of 40¢ per share would be paid in February, May, August and November, and subsequently they declared a special dividend of 8½% in stock, which was distributed on March 10, 1965.

For stockholders who retained those shares, cash payments have amounted to the equivalent of $1.04 per share in 1965, compared with $1.50 per share in 1964, an increase of 21.3%.

PUBLIC AUCTION SET

For Lyle Property. A house and lot at 20 Lyle Street will go up for public auction at 11 a.m., Tuesday, December 14, at Borough Hall.

The Borough has stipulated that bids must be at least $5,255. The property, once owned by the Elite Social Club, is 30 by 120 ft.

Sports In Princeton

Continued from Page 2: last month, but will come along to spell Walters and Rodenbach whenever needed.

Bench Strength Evident. In all, van Brede Kofficis has at least ten players on whom he can count, a larger nucleus for a basketball squad than Princeton has known in other years. Bounding out the top personnel are juniors Larry Lucchesia and Joe Callahan, a pair of back court players, and sophomore Dave Lawyer, a lithe Negro with a good eye and legs that take him a long ways up on the jump.

Graduation losses. In addition to Bradley, are 9-10 Bill Kingston, 6-1 Don Roth, 6-6 Don Niemann and 6-6 Ken Marmalade. The Princeton team has lost only one player, a fine man in Dave Bliss, and the schedule at last week in their favor.

Cornell a Title Bet. After years of coming close but without the ability to win a championship since 1954, Cornell may be the team to beat this season. The Ithaca have lost only one player, a fine man in Dave Bliss, and the schedule at last week in their favor. In other years, Cornell has built up an early lead by playing its tough games at home first and has then lost when making mid-February trips to Columbia, Penn and Princeton. This season, the Red finishes at home and in a tight race as the Tigers know that can make the difference.

Penn, with Jeff Neuman and Stan Pawlak, ally choices two years running and back back as seniors, is a strong contender, as is — for the first time in a decade — Columbia. The Lions have several good veterans returning and the tallest player in Ivy League history, Sophomore Dave Newmark is 7-7. Yale, Brown, Harvard and Dartmouth appear unlikely to crack first division. The Eli are the strongest among these four.

Princeton will open its 1965-66 schedule at Easton, Pa., on Wednesday, December 1, against Lafayette. Army, always a rugged opponent in the sport, will provide the opposition in Dallas on December 4. Saturday night, December 4, Villanova and Rutgers are other home opponents, with a trip to Annapolis to play Navy on the schedule. Following the Tigers head for a Big Ten meeting with Illinois in Chicago on December 18. Following holiday action in North Carolina, 14 straight Ivy games begin with a game at New Haven on January 7.

The complete schedule:
Dec. 1, Lafayette at Easton; 4, Army, 7, Villanova, 11, Navy at Annapolis; 13, Rutgers; 18, Illinois at Chicago; 27, North Carolina at Greensboro; 28-29, Charlotte Holiday Tournament.

Jan. 7, Yale at New Haven; Brown at Providence; 14, Dartmouth; 15, Harvard; 20, Pennsylvania.

Feb. 4, Harvard at Cambridge; 11, Brown; 22, Yale; 18, Cornell; 18, Columbia; 25, Cornell at Ithaca; 26, Columbia at New York.

Mar. 1, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

BOWLING NOTES

New League Begins Play. The Blue Angels League, which last year had four teams of 10-year old boys, has expanded to six teams and has begun league play. In the first of competition the Tigers, Sharks and Kids are tied for the lead with four points and the Triples, Hunters and Wildcats are tied for second with two points.

Curt Mitchell led the individual performances with a 212 high game. Tom Wood, with a 160 game, and Mike Skillman, with a 163 game, followed.

In other league play, Dutch Neck failed to score its 40-point total and fell into a tie with Princeton No. 1 for the — Continued on page 24

NAMESAKE CROIR: Composer Katherine K. Davis Conover, Mass., has written a special anthem for the K. K. Davis Choir of All Saints' Chapel, named in her honor. The choir will sing the hymn for her when she comes to Princeton early in December.

News Of The CHURCHES

GIRLS' CHOIR HONORED

By Special Anthem. When the K. K. Davis Choir was organized at All Saints' Chapel more than four years ago, it was named in tribute to the contribution of Miss Katherine K. Davis to the field of church music. The Conover, Mass., composer has returned the gesture by writing a hymn dedicated in the choir and its director, Mrs. Alfonsa Dezen of Hopewell. Her composition, first performed by the choir on November 7, will be sung again in December when Miss Davis visits Princeton.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Miss Davis has had more than 600 compositions and arrangements published p.m. each Sunday during Advent by nationally known firms. During her years as a teacher of vocal music at Shady Hill Country Day School, Philadelphia, her students included Mrs. Albert A. Austen of 10 Princeton Avenue who remembers her classes as not only instructive but vibrant and joyous.

The K. K. Davis Choir rehearses twice a week and sings at the 9 a.m. service on Sundays. Members are Debbie Coda, Greerian Mary Goetz, Margaret Griffin, Laura Lane, Barbara McCulloch, Margaret Meigs, Susan Meigs, Lisa Moffitt, Pam Myers, Ann Paikon, Kristi Pike, Helen Rayner, Anne Marie Schafer, Katty Shihert, Claudia Stow, Emily and Karen Wann, George E. Lewis is accompanist.

ADVENT BEGINS
Special Worship Set. Vesper services will be held at 5

and the women's association is sponsoring the service.

Advent communion will be celebrated at 11 on Sunday at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. The Rev. H. Dana Pearson III will preach the topic, "The Lover's Victory". The Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel will give the sermon, "The Plague Was Stayed" at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services in First Presbyterian Church.

"Food for the Soul" will be the topic of the sermon of the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson at 11 a.m. worship in Princeton Methodist Church. Morning prayer and Holy Communion services will be held at 9 and 11 a.m. in All Saints' Chapel by the Rev. Charles G. Newberry.

PLAN ADVENT LECTURES
At Trinity A. Bibles scholar, the Rev. Dr. R. Byss Williams, will deliver four Sunday evening lectures at Trinity Episcopal Church during Advent. His topic is "The Destiny of Man," based upon the apocalyptic literature of the Old and New Testaments. The public is invited.

The lectures are included in the Princeton Christian Unity Committee's inter-church program for 1965-66. They will be held at 8:15 p.m. on November 28, December 5, 12 and 19 in the parish hall. The Trinity Boys choir will sing the service of evensong at 7:45 p.m. each evening.

Dr. Williams is currently serving as Episcopal chaplain at Vassar College and as rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. A 1944 graduate of Lehigh University, he holds clerical degrees from General Theological Seminary, New York City, and a master's degree from Columbia. In addition to holding various pastorates, he has served as Old Testament instructor at General Seminary and as professor of Old Testament and instructor in Hebrew at Nashville House in Wisconsin.

PLAN ISRAELI DANCING
At New Members' Welcome. The Jewish Center of Princeton will hold a special service of welcome for new members this Friday evening. Sermon remarks by Rabbi Everett Gendler will be held to allow time for Israeli dancing and a social hour.

Churches Plan Thanksgiving Services

The traditional community Thanksgiving service will be held at 11 a.m. on Thursday in University Chapel, sponsored by the Princeton Faculty Association. The address, Albert J. J. Tynes, Jr., of the Princeton Faculty Association, will give the sermon. The offering will support the chaplaincy program at Princeton Hospital.

Lutheran Church of the Messiah will hold Thanksgiving worship at 10 a.m. on Thursday with the Rev. Luther Kriebel in the pulpit. Adult and children's choirs will sing.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, 16 Bayard Lane, will hold a Thanksgiving service at 11 a.m. on Thursday. At the close of the service, Thanksgiving lentenials will be given.

Kingsport Presbyterian Church scheduled a Thanksgiving Eve service at 8 p.m. on Wednesday with the Rev. Charles Bartow of the Princeton Seminary presiding. Church members were invited to join in worship.

In Hopewell, the community Thanksgiving service will be held at 9 a.m. on Thursday at Calvary Baptist Church under the auspices of the Hopewell Council of Churches. The Rev. Olin D. McGowan, pastor of Second Calvary Baptist Church will give the sermon. The offering is to be shared by the Hopewell Valley Association for Equal Opportunities and "Share our Surplus."

In Plainboro, worship will be held at 8:15 a.m. in First Presbyterian Church under the leadership of the Rev. Richard McEae. A fellowship time will follow.

Mrs. Leonard Myerling, Sunday at the church.

Members of refreshments, assisting her, served family members. Mrs. Herbert Alexander, Mrs. Alfred Bernhardt, Mrs. Bernhardt, Mrs. Irvin her 4 at Hopewell Baptist Church. Mrs. Sidney Gray, Mrs. W. Ernest Lyman and Mrs. Shura Yaffe.

CHURCH AID IS TOPIC
OF WSCS Session. "Adoration of Christ Through the Medium of Art" will be discussed 8 p.m. on December 2 by the Women's Society of Christian Service of Princeton Methodist Church.

Old masters and modern painters will be presented by Mrs. John Martin Criele, Mrs. David Martin and Mrs. Shirley Johnson, co-chairmen. Mrs. Donald Bugg is in charge of special music, and a collection of creche decorations will be displayed by Mrs. Fred Johnson.

Members will bring gifts for the Ocean Grove Home and the Camden Deaconess Home. Mrs. Harvey Hook, president, will conduct a brief business session. Members of Beck-Richer Circle are hostesses for the social hour.

BULLETIN NOTES
Paper Drive. Old newspapers will be collected between 8 and 11 a.m. this Saturday in the Lawrenceville area by members of the senior high of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. Those who are requested to call the church office 986-1212 to arrange for pickup. Funds raised will go to the annual senior high Christmas dance.

"Success" Film. "Sweet Smell of Success" starring Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis and Susan Harrison will be screened at 7:45 p.m. Thanksgiving evening at First Presbyterian Church. A panel discussion on the inner dynamics of the film will follow. The showing is the first of a series blending outstanding secular films and commentaries.

Ordination. Ralph C. Chandler, assistant at First Presbyterian Church, will be ordained to the ministry at 7:30 p.m. on "YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, too, but we've got more spirit in our town topics." It's our ad-vertises.

THEY'VE LOVED THIS HOUSE

But ever since that fourth child came along, it hasn't been quite the same — but it's still the perfect. The location is ideal for children, of course; a quiet Township cul-de-sac one block from the bus and within easy walking distance of school; and the room arrangement could hardly be better. On a lower level plan, room with adjoining full bath, room that opens directly to cellar and garage, recreation. Upstairs, there are four bedrooms and bath, and on the main floor, living room with fireplace, dining room opening to terrace, and almost new kitchen. For a modest family, the secluded study is a real plus. The yard is fenced and sheltered by towering Norway spruce. A most unusual offering at
